Chapter 1: John Phoenix Solves the Murder of Sonic the Hedgehog

John Phoenix was at the train station waiting for the Molentary Express to arrive but then the Mirage Express appeared instead so John Phoenix decided to get on that anyway.

"Excuse me sir do you have your ticket?" said the conductor.

"Oh yeah yeah obviously," said John Phoenix but he did not have a ticket so he lied, "I seem to have lost it though."

"Oh-ho-ho don't worry about fahahaha!" the conductor.

John Phoenix noticed the Mirage Express was much wider than an average train and he also noticed that there were giant abnormally shaped animals on the train and the blue one came up to him and said.

"John Phoenix nice to meetya I'm Sonic and I'm the fastest thing in the world."

"No you're not," John Phoenix made this painfully obvious observation. His reasoning? Observe: "If you were the fastest thing in the world then you would not be on a train you would just run."

"Allow me to prove you wrong John Phoenix," said the conductor and then the train took off so fast everyone got thrown off their feet except John Phoenix who just stood still and yawned.

John Phoenix looked back at the group who were trying to get back onto their feet.

"Ow that hurt," said Tails.

"I like being hurt," said Knuckles.

"Whaaaat?" said a guy with a game gear. "You sure are weird and zany!"

Once everyone was back on their feet John Phoenix turned back to Sonic. But Sonic was gone!

Except not really, because he was not gone. He was lying on the floor by John Phoenix's feet, not moving!

"SONIIIIIIIC!" screamed a guy with a game gear in his hands.

"How could John Phoenix kill Sonic?" said Knuckles.

John Phoenix grabbed the knucklehead by the neck!

"First of all, TROLL, I couldn't have done it because I don't have any weapons, secondly we're not sure if Sonic's even dead yet!"

"But how do we do that?" said Knuckles who is stupid.

"The best way to make sure he's dead is to kill him," said Shadow.

"Wowy zowy I will never understand you people," said the OC. Then he took out his game gear.

"This is no time for video games bro," said Knuckles.

But it WAS time for video games, because it helped him THINK! And then he was done thinking.

"I think we should take his pulse!" said the OC.

"I could've told you that way faster, troll!" said John Phoenix but the OC didn't listen because he is immature. The OC took his pulse.

"I don't feel it," said OC but John Phoenix grabbed him and wrote "idiot" on his nametag.

"Leave this to the expert," said John Phoenix and he checked for Sonic's pulse instead and he found it!

"WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?" cried Knuckles.

"THINK!" said Idiot and he took out his game gear again but John Phoenix snatched it and threw it out the window!

"It means the true culprit in this case... is NOBODY! Because Sonic the Hedgehog... ISN'T DEAD!"

"Wooooowwwww!" said everyone.

"Hey guys where the chili dogs at," Sonic woke up.

And so the murder of Sonic was solved thanks to the effective work of John Phoenix!

The End.
