Chapter 1*: John Phoenix Works Retail

Phoenix Wright was dragging his shopping basket across the floor of the supermarket, heaving it all the way to checkout.

"Hi I'd like to buy this," said Phoenix through heavy panting, and he looked up at the clerk. "J-John Phoenix?"

"Hello, Uncle," said John Phoenix the clerk.

"What are you doing here? I didn't think you'd ever want or need to work retail."

"Do not question it, uncle! Now give me what you want to buy or I'll arrest you for shoplifting!"

So Phoenix tried to lift the bag up but he could not so John Phoenix used his psychic powers to bring it up to him himself.

"Uncle there is one apple in here, how can you not carry this? You are pathetic and weak!"

John Phoenix did the work anyway.

"Thanks John Phoenix," Phoenix said with a big wide grin.

And then two people in red hats shoved Phoenix out of the way!

"Yes, move it, stupidhead. I mean, stupidhair. Your hair looks stupid. You must be a liberal. Go kill yourself cuck," said the new shopper.

"I agree your hair is stupid," said John Phoenix.

Phoenix Wright cried.

The second shopper put a basket of perfectly normal groceries on the table and John Phoenix rung them up.

"80 dollars."

"What!" said one of them. "We calculated it and it comes to 50!"

"Yeah but we charge 10% VAT on everything," said John Phoenix. He also charges an extra 20% Republican tax.

"You stupid piece of shit millennial scum I should get it for free I am right because I am the customer the customer is always right."

John Phoenix grabbed the brutish customer by the neck telekinetically and blew his head off!

"What the shit!" shouted the customer who attacked Uncle Phoenix. "You will pay for that!"

But then the customer got arrested because John Phoenix made it look like he did it, framing him was easy because he was already proven to be dangerous and violent when he foolishly attacked Phoenix.

After the trial John Phoenix retired from retail and revealed that he was actually there undercover to catch and dispose of problem customers.
