*Chapter 1*: John Phoenix and the Ocarina of Time

John Phoenix was standing on the balcony of the Phoenix & Co. Law Offices, overseeing the city of Los Angeles. He sighed. Why should he constantly put his life at a minor inconvenience to save this city over and over again? John Phoenix decided to go somewhere else.

John Phoenix took out a portal gun he borrowed from Saint Peter and created a portal in the middle of his bedroom. Not knowing where it would lead him, he went through it.

He landed outside a castle town and the drawbridge was down. He walked towards it but as he was walking the sun shot down and it was night and the bridge went up.

"Nooo fuck, I missed it again!" said a guy in green, but not John Phoenix. A little kid wearing a green tunic and a green hat ran up to where John Phoenix was standing. "The day's too short here, I can never make it to the castle quick enough."

Then some skeletons crawled out of the ground.

"Okay fuck this I'm going into town," said John Phoenix and he concentrated his psychic powers and then he blasted into the sky! Then he landed on the other side of the drawbridge. The moment he set foot in town, time stopped moving, so the kid was stuck outside with the skeletons.

John Phoenix ran through the town and towards the castle. On his way, a guard stopped him at the gate.

"State your business with the castle," said the guard.

"I'm John Phoenix."

Then John Phoenix did cool tricks with his psychic powers and the guards were impressed so they let him in. John Phoenix ran around exploring the castle then he bumped into Zelda.

"Ahh, intruder!" said Zelda.

"Shut up. Do you know who I am? I am John Phoenix! I'm not an intruder. This castle should be mine."

"Oh, I see," said Zelda. "I'll let you have the castle but only if you help me."

"Okay. What do I do?"

Zelda pointed behind John Phoenix and he looked behind him and saw a large man walking through the halls.

"I want you to kill that man. He'll destroy Hyrule if you don't."

"What do you think I am, an assassin?" said John Phoenix, but he really wanted this castle. "Ugh, fine, I'll do it anyway."

"Wait!" Zelda gave John Phoenix a blue ocarina.

"What, we're playing music? Now's not the time!"

"To kill Ganondorf I need you to collect three jewels from the forest, mountain and river, then you have to play this ocarina in the temple of time and you'll get a sword that will kill him."

"No," said John Phoenix, and he took out a shotgun and blasted Ganondorf's face in with it.

"What in the name of Hyrule do you think you're doing?!" said one of the guards.

"Oh shit," said John Phoenix. He shot the guard so he wouldn't leave any witnesses, then he scooped up the corpses and stuffed them into a bag. He put the bag in a carriage and rode it out to Lake Hylia, then he threw the bag into the lake and it sunk. The evidence was disposed of and John Phoenix had successfully saved Hyrule from the wrath of Ganondorf.

John Phoenix went home.
